

POSSIBLE BOYCOTT SUBJECTS

The following companies are among those who (or some of their major shareholders) have been financial backers of Donald Trump, the Republican Party or the extremist organizations (such as the Heritage Foundation) that support him.

These firms are highly susceptible to organized consumer boycotts and peaceful public protests. Most of list drew information from Open Secrets (www.opensecrets.org).

Amway Corp.

<https://www.amwayglobal.com/>

This multi-level marketing company sells health, beauty and homecare products. Its parent company is co-owned by members of the DeVos family. They have been major donors to the Republican Party since the 1990's and are enthusiastic supporters of Donald Trump (Betsy DeVos sat in the first Trump administration).

Charles Schwab & Co

www.schwab.com

This financial services firm has over 350 branches/offices across the country. Members of the Schwab family have been major contributors to the Republican Party.

Coors Brewing Company

<http://coors.com/>

Joseph Coors Sr. (1917-2003) provided the bulk of the initial funding for the Heritage Foundation. Although now part of the publicly Molson Coors, the family still owns a considerable block of stock and has two seats on the parent company's board. The Coors family continues to support Heritage.

Haworth Inc

www.haworth.com

A family-owned company that specializes in office furniture. The firm has showrooms in various major cities including Chicago, Atlanta and Boston. The company was a major Trump donor.

New Balance Athletics, Inc.

www.newbalance.com

The privately-owned athleticwear company's brand portfolio includes New Balance, Brine and Warrior Sports. The firm was a major 2024 donor to the Trump campaign.

Penske Corporation

www.penske.com

Company founder Roger Penske remains an enthusiastic Trump supporter. Brands and divisions include Penske Motor Group, Carshop and the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Tesla, Inc.

www.tesla.com

Founder, principal stockholder and CEO Elon Musk is an exuberant supporter of Right Wing causes and was the early driving force in the effort to hollow-out the federal government.

Uline

www.uline.com

The founders and owners of this business supply company have donated millions to Right Wing groups. They have even used the firm's catalog to espouse political beliefs and have invited conservative commentators to lecture employees. Uline has multiple regional bases in states from Pennsylvania to California.

Walmart/Sam's Club

www.walmart.com

www.samsclub.com

Members of the Walnut family have been long-time supporters of extremist organizations, including the Heritage Foundation.

Wynn Resorts

www.wynnresorts.com

Wynn Resorts owns two Las Vegas properties (Wynn Las Vegas and Encore Las Vegas) as well as the Encore Boston Harbor in Everett, Massachusetts. Founder and major shareholder Steve Wynn was a major donor to Donald Trump's 2024 campaign.

www.thehonorarymonarchy.com